Wiretap control bill rapped as too broad

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's new intelligence committee is reviewing a wiretap control bill supported by President Ford and a broad range of senators but challenged by critics on grounds it would allow more bugging than it would discourage.

The Senate Judiciary Committee

voted 11 to 1 earlier this month to approve the bill which for the first time requires the White House to obtain judicial warrants for national security wiretaps and to certify in writing and under oath that they are necessary.

The intelligence committee begins considering the measure today under the dual jurisdiction it was granted recently as overseer of the performance of the FBI, CIA and other U.S. intelligence agencies.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the bill's chief sponsor, has taken the view that the bill is a major step forward and the best bill that can be passed now.

Kennedy said it would be impossible to win Senate approval of a more sweeping set of controls or an outright ban on wiretapping.

A coalition of groups, including the American Civil Liberties Union, attacked the bill Monday. They said it would "legitimize more wiretapping than it would discourage" because Congress would be going on record for the first time as approving national security wiretaps.

Morton Halperin, who is suing Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger for allegedly authorizing a wiretap on Halperin's telephone when he worked for the National Security Council, also said the measure would give the FBI authority to engage in domestic intelligence gathering.

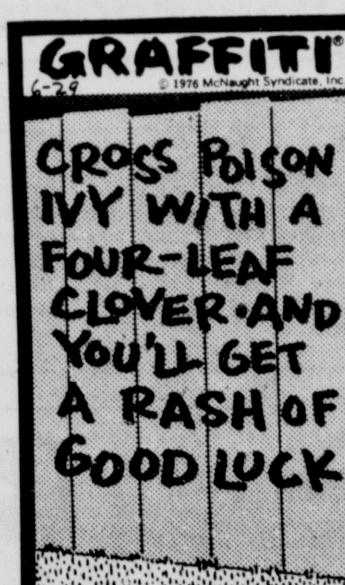

Halperin contended the Justice Department will claim the bill authorizes such investigations as a means of determining whether a suspect is an "agent" of a foreign power or is "aiding and abetting" such an agent.

Aides to Kennedy disputed Halperin's contention and said the bill in no way applies to anything other than electronic surveillance.

In its present form, the bill requires the attorney general to obtain a court warrant authorizing electronic surveillance in this country on foreign intelligence matters.

The attorney general would be required to present convincing evidence that the target of the wiretap or bug is an agent of a foreign power and to certify that the data sought cannot be obtained by other investigative techniques.

The chief justice of the United States would be authorized to empower seven district court judges around the country to issue wiretap warrants.

Bridegroom from Ohio missing

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Police here are puzzled by the case of the missing bridegroom.

John and Mary Raab were honeymooning at a hotel in this resort city until the bridegroom vanished last Tuesday after the couple had an argument.

Raab left the couple's hotel room three days after their honeymoon had begun, leaving behind his money, identification and car keys, as well as his bride, a police detective said.

The 25-year-old Raab had just graduated eighth in his class at Ohio State University's school of veterinary medicine, and was to have begun work Monday as a veterinarian in his home town of Lancaster, Ohio.

John and Mary were married June 19 in Columbus, Ohio and then traveled through Virginia, reaching Virginia Beach June 21.

Mrs. Raab told police her husband was depressed the next day.

"We had an argument because he was nervous about starting his practice," she said. "I just told him to leave, only meaning for him to return."

"I just really wish that he would come back, or that I could find out something about him," said Mrs. Raab, who has returned to her parents' home in Columbus.

"I just feel, I guess I just feel, that I let him down."

Police have searched the beach area for the man, without success.

"I don't think he committed suicide," said Det. Joseph Perez.

The detective said Raab became depressed because of fears of starting his new job.

"She (Mrs. Raab) said he was depressed because he didn't think he could fit in with the other two guys he would be working with," he said.

Governor signs narcotics bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill easing strict requirements on law enforcement officials in dealing with confiscated narcotics has been signed into law by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The legislation, sponsored by Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, takes effect July 1, along with the state's new omnibus drug law which it seeks to correct.

Rhodes also signed Monday, effective Sept. 27:

A bill sponsored by Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, permitting companies not based in Ohio to bid on group life insurance policies for state employees. The measure is intended to expand competition for health and life coverage of state employees.

—Legislation sponsored by Sen. Ben M. Gaeth, R-1 Defiance, permitting prosecutors to subpoena juveniles held in custody of the Ohio Youth Commission as witnesses in court proceedings.

—A bill authored by Sen. Neal F. Zimmers, Jr., D-5 Dayton, permitting municipal courts to arrange for a sanity examination of a defendant before trial. The court could not use Lima State Hospital or any other state hospital for this purpose, however.

A bill, sponsored by Zimmers, setting up a legal method for individuals to refuse gifts of legal property or unwanted grants of legal powers.

—A bill sponsored by Rep. Kenneth R. Cox, D-41 Barberston, designed to ease procedures for local governments to return tax delinquent land to tax rolls. Under the bill, foreclosure proceedings can be brought within "a reasonable period" after property is certified delinquent, rather than within six months as previously required.

Elopement joins man, 94; woman, 73

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Amsey Sheffield didn't have a ladder and he couldn't carry his love down one, but he and Nannie Gurley eloped and got married anyway.

"We were in love," exclaimed the new Mrs. Sheffield, a 73-year-old widow, showing off her crisp marriage license.

She announced that she and her 94-year-old husband soon would move from the nursing home where they live to her house in Columbus.

"The doctor didn't want me to stay alone," she said. "Now I've got someone to be with me 24 hours a day."

Bailout plan for entire nations to cost taxpayers

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — A multibillion-dollar financial bailout for industrial nations, similar to the aid plan for New York City, is being studied by the Western world's economic powers.

Details aren't yet worked out, but U.S. taxpayers could contribute as much as $2 billion to an aid package that could total $6.1 billion.

It may be the first to receive help, U.S. officials indicated Monday, with Great Britain likely to be next in line.

The leaders of the U.S., British, Canadian, French, Italian, Japanese and West German governments discussed the need for special aid at their economic summit conference here Sunday and Monday.

"We recognize that problems may arise for a few developed countries which have special needs, which have not yet restored domestic economic stability, and which face major payments deficits," they said in a joint statement at the end of the meeting.

The significance of the aid plan, if it is put into operation, would be that the industrial nations would be committed to preventing the financial collapse of any of their group.

There would be a price to pay, however. President Ford said in a statement that any aid should be made available "in conjunction with a firm program for restoring underlying equilibrium." That means nations receiving aid would be expected to balance their budgets, even if it meant painful belt-tightening for their people.

This would be similar to the price New York is paying for Washington's help with its financial crisis. The city has had to agree to budget-balancing economies, and the loans to it are for relatively short periods.

Solon wants law change

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Missouri congressman has introduced legislation that would repeal the 1863 statute under which he is being sued for allegedly making false claims for official travel.

The same law is being used by two lawyers to sue Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, and Elizabeth Ray, a former employee who has claimed Hays hired her solely to provide him with sexual intercourse.

Hays has admitted a "personal relationship" with Miss Ray but said she was placed on the staff of the House Administration Committee he then headed to do secretarial work.

The congressman filing the bill to repeal the law is Rep. William L. Clay, D-Mo. The measure would not affect the civil suit filed against him because the repeal would not be retroactive.

The 1863 law permits any citizen to sue a federal official in the name of the United States for knowingly making false claims against the government.

The Justice Department has 60 days under it to take over the suit. The person suing could receive 10 per cent of any funds recovered.

The assassination report

The Justice Department's investigation of the FBI's "black bag" capers, which went on long after they were supposedly stopped, raises further questions about the nation's chief law enforcement agency. That is bad enough, on top of all the disclosures about the workings of the intelligence apparatus.

But there is more. In yet another report the Senate Intelligence Committee brings us further cause for concern. We are told that both CIA and FBI agents were officially steered away from anything but the Oswald-alone-did-it scenario for the John F. Kennedy assassination.

A WORD EDGEWISE...By John P. Roche

Warring for the turf

"Speaking in Helsinki yesterday, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger pled that the United States would support 'self-determination, majority rule, equal rights, and human dignities for all peoples' of the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe." Try that one again . . . it is, of course, slightly altered: Kissinger used the words quoted on April 27 in Lusaka, Zambia and the reference was to "all peoples of Southern Africa." Yet, unless my training in ethics is wholly deficient, a principle of American foreign policy should be fungible, that is, universally applicable.

To be even more specific, on May 5, 1976 (while nobody was watching) the United States Senate passed, 86-6, a resolution on U.S.-Soviet relations. Tucked away in it (Sec. 5) was the decision that "the three Baltic nations of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania have been illegally occupied by the Soviet Union since World War II." Does this action not make it incumbent upon Chairman Kissinger vigorously to support Latvian, Estonian and Lithuanian "self-determination, majority rule, equal rights, and human dignities" — even if it disturbs his friend Brezhnev?

"I think the computer goofed... this is my ex-mother-in-law..."

This statement is bolstered by supportive data.

The Senate panel also elaborates on the apparent fact that the Warren Commission was not told of CIA plotting to kill Cuban Premier Fidel Castro. The report says senior officials of both the CIA and FBI "directed their subordinates to conduct an investigation without telling them of these vital facts" (about the attempts on Castro's life, which may have brought a Cuban counteraction).

The committee sent its files to the new permanent Senate Intelligence Committee and urged a further probe. This should be undertaken without delay.

Well, don't stand on one foot awaiting such a pronouncement. The terrible fact is — as you know, Secretary Kissinger knows, and I know — that "liberation" of the territories occupied by the Soviet Union would involve at least a bloodbath of those courageous enough to rebel (see Hungary, 1956) and at worst a war between the United States and the U.S.S.R. (Even Congress knows this, but its wisdom is not always reflected in legislation.)

However, once we recognize that the principle of "liberation" is prudentially disastrous against our major "potential adversary," why do we have to blow the trumpet in Africa: I am opposed to minority rule whether it is white, black, brown, yellow or ideological. Without for one second condoning apartheid in South Africa or white authoritarianism in Rhodesia, I am prepared to argue that nowhere in the world is majority rule so flagrantly violated as in the Communist power spheres. It would be startling if 5 per cent of the population in Red China belong to the totalitarian apparatus of the Party. The figure for the Soviet Union might reach 10 to 15 per cent, probably the high score for the league — and the way the Albanians have been purging "unreliable elements," their "apartheid" could well be down to 1 per cent.

But let's return to Africa. It would be manifestly unfair to accuse Kissinger of touching off race war in the south — as a number of conservatives are doing. The gunpowder has been there for years, all fused, and what touched off the explosion was Portuguese decolonization along with Soviet aid and Cuban sepoys. What Kissinger has done is more ethereal than malevolent: the analogy that comes to mind is of an agent of the Environmental Protection Agency rushing up to General Eisenhower on D-Day, H-Hour of the Normandy invasion, demanding an environmental impact study. What is occurring now in Africa has nothing whatsoever to do with "majority rule, self-determination, equal rights, and human dignity." It is simply a war to the knife for the turf and what's underneath it.

As anyone who has followed the course of black African development over the past two decades knows, the inevitable trend has been towards military dictatorship, usually by one tribe over the others. (Gambia is the only exception that comes to mind.) Even in Liberia the "Americo-Liberian tribes," descendants of freed slaves, has for well over a century kept the locals in line. So why should the government of the United States talk as though we and the African blacks were standing at Armageddon in a struggle for the future?

In 1956 I gave up hopes of liberating people from Communism because the human price was too great — I don't believe in advising other people to volunteer for holocausts. In the same sense, we should bend every effort in white Africa towards long-term adjustments with a minimum of casualties. It is hard to formulate a precise policy, but I know a bad one when I see it — the one we are now following. To repeat an earlier refrain, we were better off with no African policy than with the lunatic abstractions we are today madly pursuing.

Welfare recipients benefit from community garden project

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Cultivating gardens to help feed former welfare recipients here has turned into a community project which combines a little socialism with a lot of private enterprise.

Some former recipients, volunteers and farmers in Summit county have been donating seeds, equipment and their time as they try to clear and plant 10 acres which the county commissioners set aside as a garden.

The move became necessary when the county recently ran out of funds to pay 4,100 recipients receiving general relief payments. The garden is on land surrounding the former county poorhouse.

One fellow called with a truckload of plants. I don't know how many, I just said all right, we'll take it," said Dale Miller, who volunteered to take charge of the project for the county. Miller is the director of the private antipoverty group Operation Fight.

"The community's been great. They've come through with everything, including some expertise and that's what was sorely needed," Miller said. "Everybody's calling to say, 'What can we do?'

"It's really wonderful, especially when you've been walking around with that basket for years asking people to put something into it. You'd like to see this sort of thing going on all the time and not just during a crisis."

No one knows how well the project will work or how effective it will be in trying to make up for the loss of payments. Most of the 4,100 who lost the county help don't qualify for major aid programs, said Donald M. Stephens, a county commissioner who suggested the garden project.

Some of the recipients are jobless workers who have exhausted their unemployment benefits. Some still can qualify for federal food stamps. And some are in need of adequate housing.

"It's obvious the gardening won't solve all their problems," Stephens said. "What good is food if you have no place to live?"

Miller acknowledged that the turnout among the needy hasn't been large so far. He said lack of transportation was one reason. Other recipients are sick and unable to work. Some, he added, can't handle the manual labor of the farming.

He remained optimistic however. "We've had 125 out at one time. That's as many as we need out to work, but that's no reflection of how many are interested."

To ensure that the land will be cleared, tilled and planted the acreage will be a cooperative venture. No individual plots will be assigned. After the harvest, Miller said, churches probably will be used as distribution points.

He said that he's going to have to rely on good will and honesty to make sure that the food gets to the people who need it most.

"We can't feed everyone, but those really willing could turn out enough food to feed quite a few," he said.

Hubby's torrid verse:
fantasy or fact?

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know if I am living with a talented poet or an incurable woman-chaser.

My husband and I are in our late middle years, and I thought him loyal until I found in his desk several hundred love poems he admits he composed himself. Some are as bland as unsalted popcorn, but most are more like enchiladas!

These impassioned poems of pleading, praise and ecstasy contain the names of more than a dozen women Ginny, Julie, Linda, Jackie, Edna, Florence, etc. All, he insists, are casual encounters about whom he has fantasized.

Is it possible that there is no foundation whatsoever for all these torrid "love affairs" he so vividly described in his poems? Just how much "poetic license" should one be permitted?

SURVEYING THE SCENE — "Underground" gasoline tanks floated upward on a sea of wet sand Monday at the site of the new service station at Center and Elm streets.

Assistant fire chief John Rockhold surveyed the scene after receiving a complaint from a nearby resident. He returned later to check for leaking gas fumes.

Chambers to be reset in foundation

'Floating' gas tanks present hazard?

By GEORGE MALEK

Residents near Center and Elm streets believe they have a problem, and the Tanner Oil Co. knows it has one.

The common problem is four pesky gasoline tanks which refuse to sit still. Expected to be underground storage tanks for a gas station which has yet to be constructed, the chambers refuse to remain below ground level.

To the company this means an expensive, time-consuming job of resetting the tanks.

Some area residents fear that the construction site is a hazard to small children and represents a danger of explosion.

The tanks were installed last week. A hole approximately 45-by-30 feet was dug about eight feet deep. The four tanks were then lowered into place, and the hole partially filled with sand. Then some 36,000 gallons of gasoline were pumped into the tanks.

Filled only with air, the tanks would rise out of the sand and float on it in a sense. Since the firm did not want to fill them with water which would then have to later be replaced with gasoline, it used gasoline immediately.

The top edge of the tanks, two to three feet below the normal ground level, remained exposed.

Chester F. Hamulak, 1028 Center St., addressed Washington C. H. City Council last Wednesday night stating that the tanks represented a hazard.

He said the filled tanks were accessible to children playing in the area. Hamulak said the hole (still four feet deep) was a danger to playing children or cars driving at night since the construction area was unlighted. The flimsy barricade which surrounded portions of the area offered little or no protection.

The Tanner Co., which is based in Ironton, agreed to cover the tanks with gravel.

The measure seemed adequate until this weekend when rain entered the hole, and the tanks floated upward.

Once again the access ports to the tanks rose above ground. In addition, some city officials feared the soft sand and water mixture which lay at the bottom of the loosely guarded pit.

TO CORRECT the situation, the Tanner Oil Co. began pumping the gasoline back into tanker trucks

TESTING — Assistant Fire Chief John Rockhold finds no danger of gas explosion around the tanks.

$3.5 million theft leader sought

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard launched a nationwide hunt today for a British official of a U.S. air courier company suspected of masterminding the theft of at least $3.5 million from a warehouse at Heathrow Airport.

The Yard refused to give any details. But informed sources said the wanted man was a security manager with Purolator Services Ltd., the courier company, who has not been seen since the theft Saturday from the British Airways warehouse.

The sources refused to give the man's name. But they said the Yard fear he and his partner in the robbery may have already left the country with their loot.

A reward of more than $200,000 has been offered for recovery of the money.

The robbers, wearing Purolator uniforms, went to three airport warehouses operated by British Airways and Sabena, the Belgian airline, sources said. They presented apparently genuine documents and were given five steel strongboxes filled with U.S. dollars, French francs and other money, some awaiting shipment abroad and some sent to England for delivery by Purolator.

The robbers told the warehouse staff the strongboxes were addressed incorrectly and would have to be taken away to be corrected. They reportedly drove away in an armored pickup truck.

The theft was not discovered until Monday, when real officials showed up to pick up the boxes.

"We are sick, very sick," said Keith Watts, general manager of Purolator.

"The warehouse staff did all the right things and asked all the right questions," said an airport police official. "The documents they were shown were quite in order. This looks like an inside job."

The robbery was very similar to another three months ago at Heathrow.

In that incident, two men disguised as British Airways couriers bluffed security men at a warehouse into handing over gold and jewels worth an estimated $1 million.

Heathrow, one of the world's busiest airports, is also one of the most crime-plagued. Airport officials admit they suffer theft losses of up to $17.5 million a year.

Dr. Waltner, a 68-year-old native of Hungary, began his career with the state in 1941 at the Youngstown Receiving Hospital, now called Woodside, as a staff physician.

In 1951 he left there to become clinical director and assistant superintendent at Cleveland State Hospital. He returned to Woodside in 1958.

The first Catholic Church in Ohio was dedicated in the woods south of the present site of Somerset in Perry County Dec. 6, 1818. This was a rude hut, later replaced by a large building dedicated Jan. 14, 1829. This was replaced by a still larger church which burned in 1864, and the present Gothic St. Joseph Church was then erected.

The wedding will be an event of Sept. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in St. Colman Catholic Church.

When demands were made in 1796 for an elected legislature in the Northwest Territory, they were recognized by Ohio Gov. St. Clair who ordered an election in December, 1798. Under regulations legislators had to own at least 200 acres of land, voters 50 acres.

Reds drop San Diego, 7-3

Morgan hurts; hurts Padres

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Joe Morgan says a pulled muscle continues to leave him in pain, but the Cincinnati Reds second baseman still managed to hurt the San Diego Padres.

Morgan, making only his second appearance in 11 games, drove in four runs with three hits in pacing the Reds to a 7-3 victory Monday night over the Padres at San Diego.

"My side feels much better, but I still feel the pain when I swing for just an instant," he said. "There's nothing broken, but I probably won't be at 100 per cent for the rest of the season."

Despite the pain, Morgan led a four-run Cincinnati rally with his 13th home run of the year, a three-run shot into the right field seats.

Morgan's blow offset a three-run first-inning homer by Padre first baseman Willie McCovey. Morgan counteracted McCovey's efforts again in the seventh with a spectacular diving grab of a McCovey line drive with the bases loaded and two men out.

Ignoring his pain, Morgan managed to straighten up in time to nail McCovey at first base and get the Reds safely out of the inning.

Defending champs gone Wimbledon rings in new

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The Wimbledon tennis tournament, just into the second week of its 99th year, already has been assured something new this year — a new set of champions.

Some of last year's winners have tried to repeat and failed. Others didn't come back for another chance at what are considered tennis' most prestigious prizes.

When Vitas Gerulaitis of New York ousted Arthur Ashe in the fourth round, a new men's singles champion was assured. Billie Jean King announced after winning the women's singles for the sixth time last year that she would not be back to defend the title.

Tired Judy Rankin wins Zaharias golf

CHAGRIN FALLS, Ohio (AP) — Slim blonde Judy Rankin looked beat as she acknowledged her victory to the crowd gathered around the 18th green after the final hole of the $100,000 Babe Zaharias Invitational Monday.

She trudged to the press room and listened wearily while playing partner JoAnne Carner explained how a gamble on her drive on the 18th hole at tortuous Tanglewood Country Club cost her a chance at victory.

That drive, a typical booming blast by the rugged Mrs. Carner, clipped a dead tree along the left side of the fairway and bounced out of bounds, the beginning of a killing double bogey six.

Mrs. Rankin, playing as if pressure was for someone else to worry about, calmly played to a conventional par on the hole, finishing the tournament one under par at 287.

That was one stroke ahead of Jane Blalock and three ahead of Mrs. Carner, both of whom began the day tied for second, three strokes off Mrs. Rankin's pace.

The victory was good for $15,000 and a new single season earnings record of $96,830. That total, with still half the 1976 season to go, broke Mrs. Carner's 1974 mark of $87,094.

"I'm going to leave the tour for a couple of weeks after the next three or four tournaments," said the suddenly animated Mrs. Rankin. "But I want to get over $100,000 before I do, for sure. That's a record I want because nobody else can ever be the first to do it."

Junior Softball

The Industrials topped the V.F.W., 11-8, in Fayette County Youth Softball League play at Eyman Park.

The Industrials' hitting attack was led by Tyree who blasted a home run, while Upthegrove and Anders hit doubles. G. Bennett led the V.F.W. attack with three hits.

Good Hope Methodist edged First Christian, 10-9, Monday in Church League softball action.

First Christian fell short of a come from behind win after scoring two runs in the bottom of the seventh. Eddie Rea was the winning pitcher and Carl Elberfeld took the loss.

Babe Ruth

Bloomingburg scored five runs in the first inning and went on to post a 12-6 win over Willis in Babe Ruth action Sunday.

Carl Riley capped Bloomingburg's five-run first frame with a bases-loaded double. Steve Souther and Bob Armentrout added to the hitting attack with triples and Joe Alltop doubled.

Souther got credit for the win and Bellis was tagged with the loss.

Her fourth tournament victory of the year did not come easily, though.

Despite back-to-back 69's in the middle two rounds of the 72-hole tournament, Mrs. Rankin almost gave it away on the final day.

Tidewater wins IL tilt

By The Associated Press

Randy Trapp, Leo Foster and Billy Baldwin slammed homers Monday evening to power Tidewater to a 14-10 International League baseball victory over Memphis.

Trapp's homer came in the third inning, his eighth of the season. Foster and Baldwin hit homers in the eighth inning. It was Foster's fifth homer of the season and Baldwin's 11th. Brock

Ladies Professional Golf Association member "quick-hooked" her tee shot on No. 17 into a lateral water hazard. A bad lie caused her to hit a second shot off a cart path near the green, and that led to a double bogey six that suddenly put both Miss Blalock and Mrs. Carner just one stroke away.

Pemberton had four of the Tides' 15 hits.

In other IL action Monday, Syracuse topped Toledo 7-5; Rochester dumped Pawtucket 4-2; and Richmond defeated Charleston 6-3.

Terry Whitfield and Dave Bergman had run-scoring singles in the ninth inning to make the difference for visiting Syracuse.

4 arrested in slaying

CLEVELAND (AP) - Four suspects face a variety of charges in connection with the weekend slaying of eight-year-old Karen Kollar.

Two of the four - Dallas Stuckey, 19, and Guy Frehmeyer, 18, have been charged with aggravated murder, and were scheduled to appear in Cleveland Municipal Court Tuesday.

Stuckey jumped a $500 bond two months ago in connection with an attack on another girl that took place in December. He was charged with assault but never appeared in court.

David Zytowieski, 21, has been charged with obstructing justice. He was accused of helping to hide the child's killers and making plans to get them out of town.

His wife, Susan, 16, has been charged with delinquency by reason of aggravated murder and kidnapping.

Karen was battered to death with stones after she survived two attempts to kill her by throwing her from an abandoned brewery.

Officers said the incident stemmed from an attempt to scare the girl as punishment for having told Zytowieski that his wife had skipped a probation appointment.

Mrs. Zytowieski was on probation for stealing a license plate, police said.

A few weeks ago in this space we mentioned that the presidential race seems to be a diversion, while the real action is in the congressional races. We've had phone calls and people dropping in wanting further info on these people's voting records. Many have said that they had always wondered how to get the information on how the congressmen were voting on issues. Now they know. We nearly always have the current voting records for all congressmen in stock and the price is only 30 cents. For example, in the latest issue you will find that Wayne Hays (fifteenth district) has the same voting index as Harsha (our own sixth district), and both are bad. Here in Ohio it would seem that Latta (fifth district) and Miller (tenth district) are about the best we have. Throughout the nation, top men in the house are Steven Symms (Rep. first district of Idaho) and Larry McDonald (Democrat, seventh district of Georgia). Dr. McDonald was a well known surgeon in Atlanta before going to Washington. Also among the good guys are James Collins from Texas, Sam Steiger, Arizona; George Hansen, Idaho; and Phil Crane from Illinois.

To get more information out to the people on the voting records of house members, a committee has been formed — and you know how badly we need another committee — with the idea in mind to "lower taxes through less government." This new committee, call TRIM (Tax Reform IMMEDIATELY), is a nationwide movement with local units working in every state. Their objective is to let people know what's going on in Washington and why taxes are going up and the value of the dollar is going down. You may pick up a copy of the committee's bulletin free by dropping in our shop. In the TRIM Bulletin you will find Mr. Harsha's voting record on the issues that affect our taxes. You will find the TRIM Bulletin available in many business places, doctor's offices, barber shops, etc.

Truck slams into two turning autos

Four injured in three-vehicle crash

For the third time in less than three days, a serious accident in Fayette County plagued area law enforcement officers and members of the Washington C.H. Fire Department.

Though four Fayette County residents were injured in a Monday afternoon three-vehicle collision on the CCC Highway-E, luckily all required only treatment at Fayette County Memorial Hospital before they were released.

Five people were killed in two separate accidents over the weekend which took place approximately 1,000 feet from each other on Ohio 41-N.

According to Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson, the 4 p.m.

Monday accident was the result of truck driver failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

Sheriff Thompson stated that two cars northbound on CCC Highway-E were in the process of turning left onto Ohio 238, when both were struck from behind by a large truck carrying sacks of feed.

Cecil J. Harris, 68, of Bloomingburg, was in the process of turning left onto Ohio 238. In back of him was a car driven by Patricia E. McConaha, 21, of Bloomingburg, also northbound, and waiting to turn left.

The feed truck, driven by Richard R. Black, 24, of Pataskala, was approaching from behind, and was unable to stop in time for the two cars ahead, Sheriff Thompson said. Black reportedly attempted to swerve to the left around the cars, but was unsuccessful.

His truck struck Harris' car, sending it off the road in a northwest direction, and over an embankment. The McConaha car was struck on its left side by the truck, and it traveled 37 feet off towards the right of the roadway.

The feed truck flipped over on its side after impact with the two cars, and then skidded 84 feet along the left side of the road, and stopped in front of a guardrail.

As the truck overturned, it sent numerous bags of feed northwards, along the southbound lane of the highway. Black was able to get out of the truck, and was uninjured.

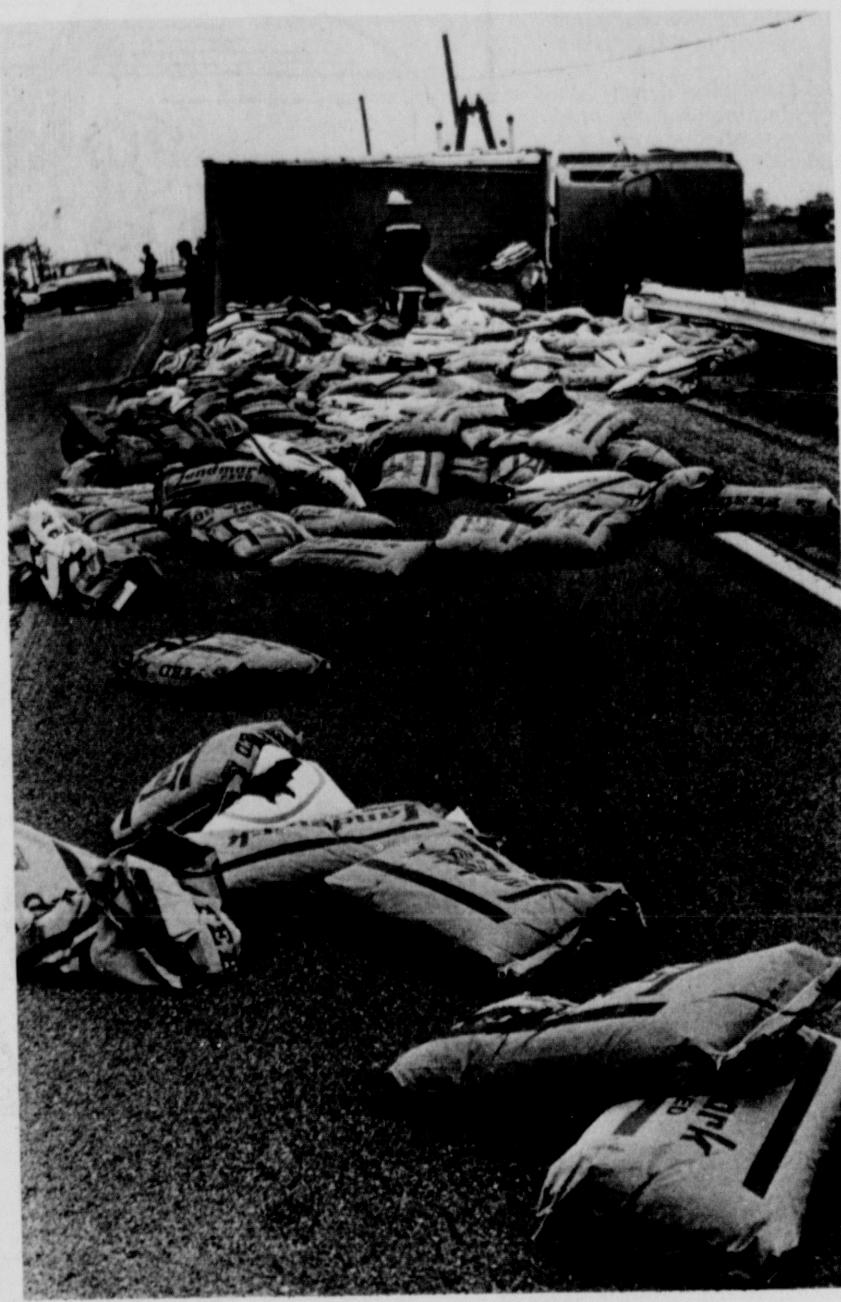

Harris and a passenger, Katherine E. May, 20, of 1025 Lakeview Ave., were both taken to Fayette County Memorial Hospital where they were treated and released. Harris had suffered fractured ribs, and various lacerations.

Ms. McConaha and her daughter, Rheta, were also taken to Fayette County Memorial and treated for lacerations and released.

As they had in the recent weekend accidents, Washington C.H. firemen were present to prevent spilled gas from igniting. The overturned truck was hosed with water.

On the scene with Sheriff Thompson were, Chief Deputy Robert McArthur, and Deputy David Souther, the investigating officer. Washington C.H. Police Specialist Larry Walker rendered his assistance in the direction of traffic. Ohio Highway Patrol officer Loren Butcher also assisted with traffic maintenance.

The three vehicles were severely damaged, and Black was charged with failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

THREE-VEHICLE COLLISION — As a result of a three-vehicle collision Monday at the intersection of Ohio 238 and CCC Highway-E, this feed truck overturned, spilling sacks for some distance along the southbound lane of the highway. Four Fayette County residents were injured, though none seriously.

Judge reduces bonds Three check suspects bound to grand jury

During a preliminary hearing in Washington C.H. Municipal Court, three Bloomingburg residents each charged with seven counts of check forgery had their bonds reduced, and were bound over to the Fayette County grand jury.

Ralph W. Thomas, 20, Jean A. Thomas, 18, and David M. Whaley, 19, all of Bloomingburg, had bonds reduced by Municipal Court Judge Robert L. Simpson from $7,500 to $2,500 apiece. After Washington C.H. Police Specialist Larry Walker gave testimony on the stand, and a motion by the Thomas' attorney Fred J. Scurry, of London, the trio was bound over to the Fayette County grand jury.

All three Bloomingburg residents have been charged, along with a 15-year-old Washington C.H. girl, with having passed seven stolen checks totalling approximately $550 and forged with the signature of John E. Merritt, a Washington C.H. resident. The checks were cashed at various area businesses in early June.

Both Ralph and Jean Thomas are being represented by Scurry. David Whaley is being represented by Robert Brubaker, a Washington C.H. attorney.

All three defendants have been released on bond.

Also bound over to the Fayette County grand jury after a preliminary hearing on Friday was Pearl Bott, 39, of Williamsport. She is alleged to have stolen a color television set from Buckeye Mart on June 20.

Mrs. Bott is currently free on bond.

During Monday's session of Washington C.H. Municipal Court, a Greenfield man was found guilty of trespassing on the property of a Fayette County man.

Joseph D. Palmer, 38, of Greenfield, was fined $30 by Judge Simpson for having trespassed on the property of Charles D. Creamer, 8494 Creamer Road, on May 26.

Lemuel Jester, 46, of 118½ E. Market St., was fined $10 with all the amount suspended for disorderly conduct.

Daniel E. Ryan, 21, of Bloomingburg, was fined $25 with $15 suspended for threatening to do harm to another person.

Donald L. Massie, Mount Sterling, forfeited a $34 bond for not appearing in court to answer charges of having thrown a beer can into Deer Creek on June 20. The warrant had been filed by Fayette County game protector Jerry Cremeans.

Both Ralph and Jean Thomas are being represented by Scurry. David Whaley is being represented by Robert Brubaker, a Washington C.H. attorney.

All three defendants have been released on bond.

Wiretap control bill rapped as too broad

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's new intelligence committee is reviewing a wiretap control bill supported by President Ford and a broad range of senators but challenged by critics on grounds it would allow more bugging than it would discourage.

The Senate Judiciary Committee

voted 11 to 1 earlier this month to approve the bill which for the first time requires the White House to obtain judicial warrants for national security wiretaps and to certify in writing and under oath that they are necessary.

The intelligence committee begins considering the measure today under the dual jurisdiction it was granted recently as overseer of the performance of the FBI, CIA and other U.S. intelligence agencies.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the bill's chief sponsor, has taken the view that the bill is a major step forward and the best bill that can be passed now.

Kennedy said it would be impossible to win Senate approval of a more sweeping set of controls or an outright ban on wiretapping.

A coalition of groups, including the American Civil Liberties Union, attacked the bill Monday. They said it would "legitimize more wiretapping than it would discourage" because Congress would be going on record for the first time as approving national security wiretaps.

Morton Halperin, who is suing Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger for allegedly authorizing a wiretap on Halperin's telephone when he worked for the National Security Council, also said the measure would give the FBI authority to engage in domestic intelligence gathering.

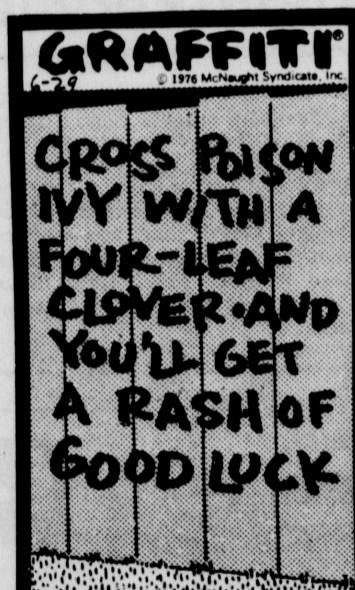

Halperin contended the Justice Department will claim the bill authorizes such investigations as a means of determining whether a suspect is an "agent" of a foreign power or is "aiding and abetting" such an agent.

Aides to Kennedy disputed Halperin's contention and said the bill in no way applies to anything other than electronic surveillance.

In its present form, the bill requires the attorney general to obtain a court warrant authorizing electronic surveillance in this country on foreign intelligence matters.

The attorney general would be required to present convincing evidence that the target of the wiretap or bug is an agent of a foreign power and to certify that the data sought cannot be obtained by other investigative techniques.

The chief justice of the United States would be authorized to empower seven district court judges around the country to issue wiretap warrants.

Parade to include 60 units

Preparations completed for 'Freedom Festival'

Plans have been completed for the Fourth of July parade sponsored by the Washington C.H. Jaycees.

The 60-unit parade, entitled "Freedom Festival," has been officially sanctioned by the Fayette County Bicentennial Committee.

Formation for the bicentennial parade will begin at 12:30 p.m. for all floats, and at 1 p.m. for all other units at the Willard Street staging area.

All marching units should form near the Medical Arts Building parking lot. All float, vehicle and horse units should report to their respective chalk-marked number on Willard Street, according to Joe Burbage, chairman of the Jaycee parade committee.

Additional entries for the parade should contact Burbage (335-0150 or 335-3118) before Friday.

The parade will step off promptly at 2:02 p.m. following a bicentennial bell-ringing ceremony. The parade will leave from the intersection of Willard Street and Columbus Avenue, travel on Court Street through the downtown business district to Clinton Avenue, turn left from Clinton Avenue onto Fairview Avenue, and through the main gate of the Fayette County Fairgrounds to the rear parking lot for dispersal.

Persons wishing to pick up participants following the parade are requested to use the rear entrance of the fairgrounds.

Participating in the parade in the following order will be:

Cruisers from the Washington C.H. Police and Fayette County Sheriff's departments; a color guard from the Burnett-Ducey Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4964; grand marshal B.E. Kelley and his wife, Elva, riding

Bridegroom from Ohio missing

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Police here are puzzled by the case of the missing bridegroom.

John and Mary Raab were honeymooning at a hotel in this resort city until the bridegroom vanished last Tuesday after the couple had an argument.

Raab left the couple's hotel room three days after their honeymoon had begun, leaving behind his money, identification and car keys, as well as his bride, a police detective said.

The 25-year-old Raab had just graduated eighth in his class at Ohio State University's school of veterinary medicine, and was to have begun work Monday as a veterinarian in his home town of Lancaster, Ohio.

John and Mary were married June 19 in Columbus, Ohio and then traveled through Virginia, reaching Virginia Beach June 21.

Mrs. Raab told police her husband was depressed the next day.

"We had an argument because he was nervous about starting his practice," she said. "I just told him to leave, only meaning for him to return."

"I just really wish that he would come back, or that I could find out something about him," said Mrs. Raab, who has returned to her parents' home in Columbus.

"I just feel, I guess I just feel, that I let him down."

Police have searched the beach area for the man, without success.

"I don't think he committed suicide," said Det. Joseph Perez.

The detective said Raab became depressed because of fears of starting his new job.

"She (Mrs. Raab) said he was depressed because he didn't think he could fit in with the other two guys he would be working with," he said.

DEDICATION — At approximately 3:30 a.m. Tuesday, a member of the Washington State Bicentennial Transcontinental Relay Team, proceeded through the Washington C.H. city limits. The group of 12 runners, who have continuously hoofed the distance from the state of Washington, in five-mile shifts, plan to be in Washington D.C. by July 3. They commenced their trek on June 4.

En route to nation's capital for bicentennial

Runners pass almost unnoticed

By GEOFF MAVIS
Record-Herald Staff Writer

There were no local government officials and very few spectators to greet him as he entered Washington C.H. corporation limits at approximately 3:30 a.m. Tuesday.

But, for the baton carrying runner of the Washington State Bicentennial Transcontinental Relay Team, his determination did not need to be bolstered by such a welcome. Covering a distance of 7.2 miles in less than 34 minutes, the Washingtonian was only running his "shift" in a trek that began June 4 in the state of Washington.

The 15-member group, all native Washingtonians, traveled through Fayette County along U.S. 22 during the early hours of Monday morning on their way to an intended July 3 arrival date in Washington D.C.

The bicentennial group, comprised of 12 runners, two camper drivers and a cook were escorted through Fayette County and Washington C.H. by Fayette County sheriff's deputies and Washington C.H. police officers.

According to a spokesman, the group works in shifts, with each runner traveling approximately five miles before he or she hands off a baton to another member who continues the running pace. The baton carries a special bicentennial greeting from the governor of Washington to President Gerald R. Ford. The group hopes to present the message to President Ford on July 4.

Two Winnebago campers, each housing six runners, travel ahead of each particular runner, providing a fresh runner five miles ahead to maintain the relay.

The spokesman of the group a female high school journalism teacher, said that they have been treated well and encouraged by the residents of communities through which they have passed.

"We've received some of the best hospitality since entering Ohio," she added.

A Fayette County sheriff's cruiser escorted the different runners to the Pickaway County line, where they were then followed by sheriff's cruiser of that county.

The members of the group appeared to be in good shape and enthusiastic about their venture. Barring no misplaced road signs, and if they maintain a pace comparable to Monday mornings, the young runners should easily achieve their arrival date.

Hijackers demand prisoner release

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Palestinians who hijacked an Air France jetliner two days ago today demanded the release of 53 "freedom fighters" held in Israel, West Germany and three other countries as ransom for some 250 hostages and the hijacked French plane, Uganda radio announced.

The hijackers said the prisoners must be brought to Uganda's Entebbe airport and the exchange must be completed before 1200 GMT — 8 a.m. EDT — Thursday.

The broadcast listed 40 "Palestinians and those fighting for the Palestinian cause" held in Israel. They included Archbishop Hilarion Capucci, the Greek Catholic archbishop of Jerusalem who is serving a prison sentence for smuggling arms to Palestinian Arabs.

Six prisoners were listed in West Germany, five in Kenya, one in Switzerland and one in France. Most names were Arabic, but those in West Germany were German names.

A pregnant British woman who was released when the plane stopped for fuel in Libya Sunday reported that there were five hijackers — three Arabs, a woman with a German accent and a man who spoke Spanish — among the 257 persons aboard when the plane was seized just after it took off from Athens. She said they were armed with guns and grenades.

The woman, Patricia Hyman, told a correspondent from the Israeli newspaper Maariv that the leader of the quintet was a thin, elegantly dressed man with European features and a Spanish accent.

He told the passengers, "We are Palestinians," and then he didn't say another word except to tell us the plane was going to land in Libya for fuel and water," Miss Hyman said.

Rumors were already circulating in Europe that the leader was the legendary 26-year-old South American terrorist Illich Ramirez Sanchez, who is best known under the alias of Carlos.

But the Greek Ministry of Public Order said in a statement there was "no evidence whatsoever" he had been in Athens.

Miss Hyman was the only person released by the hijackers. The 256 persons reported aboard when the plane arrived in Kampala early Monday morning included at least nine Americans and about 80 Israelis, but Air France withheld the names of all passengers at the request of the Israeli government.

The Sudanese ambassador, Ambrose Wol, did not say how the hijackers expected to get instructions nor did he identify their high command. Uganda Radio broadcast a long statement from them Monday in which they claimed they were members of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, a radical offshoot of the Palestine Liberation Organization. But the Popular Front's office in Beirut disowned them, and the PLO condemned the hijacking.

The hijackers were holding the hostages in a transit lounge of a former civilian terminal now used for military and cargo flights and also were guarding the hijacked French-built airbus parked nearby. They threatened to blow up the plane and its passengers if they were attacked, and the heavy guard of Uganda troops around the area made no attempt to interfere with them.

Opinion And Comment

The assassination report

The Justice Department's investigation of the FBI's "black bag" capers, which went on long after they were supposedly stopped, raises further questions about the nation's chief law enforcement agency. That is bad enough, on top of all the disclosures about the workings of the intelligence apparatus.

But there is more. In yet another report the Senate Intelligence Committee brings us further cause for concern. We are told that both CIA and FBI agents were officially steered away from anything but the Oswald-alone-did-it scenario for the John F. Kennedy assassination.

Warring for the turf

"Speaking in Helsinki yesterday, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger pledged that the United States would support 'self-determination, majority rule, equal rights, and human dignities for all peoples' of the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe." Try that one again: it is, of course, slightly altered: Kissinger used the words quoted on April 27 in Lusaka, Zambia and the reference was to "all peoples of Southern Africa." Yet, unless my training in ethics is wholly deficient, a principle of American foreign policy should be fungible, that is, universally applicable.

"I think the computer goofed... this is my ex-mother-in-law..."

This statement is bolstered by supportive data.

The Senate panel also elaborates on the apparent fact that the Warren Commission was not told of CIA plotting to kill Cuban Premier Fidel Castro. The report says senior officials of both the CIA and FBI "directed their subordinates to conduct an investigation without telling them of these vital facts" (about the attempts on Castro's life, which may have brought a Cuban counteraction).

The committee sent its files to the new permanent Senate Intelligence Committee and urged a further probe. This should be undertaken without delay.

Well, don't stand on one foot awaiting such a pronouncement. The terrible fact is — as you know, Secretary Kissinger knows, and I know — that "liberation" of the territories occupied by the Soviet Union would involve at least a bloodbath of those courageous enough to rebel (see Hungary, 1956) and at worst a war between the United States and the U.S.S.R. (Even Congress knows this, but its wisdom is not always reflected in legislation.)

However, once we recognize that the principle of "liberation" is prudentially disastrous against our major "potential adversary," why do we have to blow the trumpet in Africa: I am opposed to minority rule whether it is white, black, brown, yellow or ideological. Without for one second condoning apartheid in South Africa or white authoritarianism in Rhodesia, I am prepared to argue that nowhere in the world is majority rule so flagrantly violated as in the Communist power spheres. It would be startling if 5 per cent of the population in Red China belong to the totalitarian apparatus, the Party. The figure for the Soviet Union might reach 10 to 15 per cent, probably the high score for the league — and the way the Albanians have been purging "unreliable elements," their "aparatus" could well be down to 1 per cent.

But let's return to Africa. It would be manifestly unfair to accuse Kissinger of touching off race war in the south — as a number of conservatives are doing. The gunpowder has been there for years, all fused, and what touched off the explosion was Portuguese decolonization along with Soviet aid and Cuban sepoys. What Kissinger has done is more ethereal than malevolent: the analogy that comes to mind is of an agent of the Environmental Protection Agency rushing up to General Eisenhower on D-Day, H-Hour of the Normandy invasion, demanding an environmental impact study. What is occurring now in Africa has nothing whatsoever to do with "majority rule, self-determination, equal rights, and human dignity." It is simply a war to the knife for the turf and what's underneath it.

As anyone who has followed the course of black African development over the past two decades knows, the inevitable trend has been towards military dictatorship, usually by one tribe over the others. (Gambia is the only exception that comes to mind.) Even in Liberia the "American-Liberian tribes" descendants of freed slaves, has for well over a century kept the locals in line. So why should the government of the United States talk as though we and the African blacks were standing at Armageddon in a struggle for the Lord?

Welfare recipients benefit from community garden project

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Cultivating gardens to help feed former welfare recipients here has turned into a community project which combines a little socialism with a lot of private enterprise.

Some former recipients, volunteers and farmers in Summit county have been donating seeds, equipment and their time as they try to clear and plant 10 acres which the county commissioners set aside as a garden.

The move became necessary when the county recently ran out of funds to pay 4,100 recipients receiving general relief payments. The garden is on land surrounding the former county poorhouse.

"One fellow called with a truckload of plants. I don't know how many, I just said all right, we'll take it," said Dale Miller, who volunteered to take charge of the project for the county. Miller is the director of the private antipoverty group Operation Fight.

"The community's been great. They've come through with everything, including some expertise and that's what was sorely needed," Miller said. "Everybody's calling to say, 'What can we do?'

"It's really wonderful, especially when you've been walking around with that basket for years asking people to put something into it. You'd like to see this sort of thing going on all the time and not just during a crisis."

No one knows how well the project will work or how effective it will be in trying to make up for the loss of payments. Most of the 4,100 who lost the county help don't qualify for major aid programs, said Donald M. Stephens, a county commissioner who suggested the garden project.

Some of the recipients are jobless persons who have exhausted their unemployment benefits. Some still can qualify for federal food stamps. And some are in need of adequate housing.

"It's obvious the gardening won't solve all their problems," Stephens said. "What good is food if you have no place to live?"

Miller acknowledged that the turnout among the needy hasn't been large so far. He said lack of transportation was one reason. Other recipients are sick and unable to work. Some, he added, can't handle the manual labor of the farming.

He remained optimistic however. "We've had 125 out at one time. That's as many as we need out to work, but that's no reflection of how many are interested."

To ensure that the land will be prepared, tilled and planted the acreage will be a cooperative venture. No individual plots will be assigned. After the harvest, Miller said, churches probably will be used as distribution points.

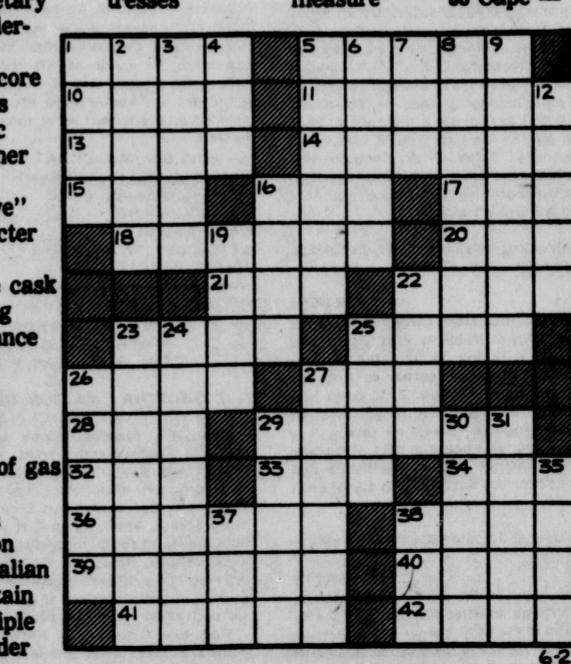

He said that he's going to have to rely on good will and honesty to make sure that the food gets to the people who need it most.

"We can't feed everyone, but those really willing could turn out enough food to feed quite a few," he said.

$3.5 million theft leader sought

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard launched a nationwide hunt today for a British official of a U.S. air courier company suspected of masterminding the theft of at least $3.5 million from a warehouse at Heathrow Airport.

The Yard refused to give any details. But informed sources said the wanted man was a security manager with Purolator Services Ltd., the courier company, who has not been seen since the theft Saturday from the British Airways warehouse.

The sources refused to give the man's name. But they said the Yard fear he and his partner in the robbery may have already left the country with their loot.

A reward of more than $200,000 has been offered for recovery of the money.

The robbers, wearing Purolator uniforms, went to three airport warehouses operated by British Airways and Sabena, the Belgian airline, sources said. They presented apparently genuine documents and were given five steel strongboxes filled with U.S. dollars, French francs and other money, some awaiting shipment abroad and some sent to England for delivery by Purolator.

The robbers told the warehouse staff the strongboxes were addressed incorrectly and would have to be taken away to be corrected. They reportedly drove away in an armored pickup truck.

The theft was not discovered until Monday, when real officials showed up to pick up the boxes.

"We are sick, very sick," said Keith Watts, general manager of Purolator.

"The warehouse staff did all the right things and asked all the right questions," said an airport police official. "The documents they were shown were quite in order. This looks like an inside job."

estimated $1 million.

Heathrow, one of the world's busiest airports, is also one of the most crime-plagued. Airport officials admit they suffer theft losses of up to $17.5 million a year.

Waltner retires as hospital chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Charles Waltner is retiring on July 1 after 18 years as superintendent at Woodside Receiving Hospital, a facility of the state Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Dr. Waltner, a 68-year-old native of Hungary, began his career with the state in 1941 at the Youngstown Receiving Hospital, now called Woodside, as a staff physician.

In 1951 he left there to become clinical director and assistant superintendent at Cleveland State Hospital. He returned to Woodside in 1958.

SURVEYING THE SCENE — "Underground" gasoline tanks floated upward on a sea of wet sand Monday at the site of the new service station at Center and Elm streets. Assistant fire chief John Rockhold surveyed the scene after receiving a complaint from a nearby resident. He returned later to check for leaking gas fumes.

Chambers to be reset in foundation

'Floating' gas tanks present hazard?

By GEORGE MALEK

Residents near Center and Elm streets believe they have a problem, and the Tanner Oil Co. knows it has one.

The common problem is four pesky gasoline tanks which refuse to sit still. Expected to be underground storage tanks for a gas station which has yet to be constructed, the chambers refuse to remain below ground level.

To the company this means an expensive, time-consuming job of resetting the tanks.

Some area residents fear that the construction site is a hazard to small children and represents a danger of explosion.

The tanks were installed last week. A hole approximately 45-by-30 feet was dug about eight feet deep. The four tanks were then lowered into place, and the hole partially filled with sand. Then some 36,000 gallons of gasoline were pumped into the tanks.

Filled only with air, the tanks would rise out of the sand and float on it in a sense. Since the firm did not want to fill them with water which would then have to later be replaced with gasoline, it used gasoline immediately.

The top edge of the tanks, two to three feet below the normal ground level, remained exposed.

Chester F. Hamulak, 1028 Center St., addressed Washington C. H. City Council last Wednesday night stating that the tanks represented a hazard.

He said the filled tanks were accessible to children playing in the area. Hamulak said the hole (still four feet deep) was a danger to playing children or cars driving at night since the construction area was unlighted. The flimsy barricade which surrounded portions of the area offered little or no protection.

The Tanner Co., which is based in Ironton, agreed to cover the tanks with gravel.

The measure seemed adequate until this weekend when rain entered the hole, and the tanks floated upward.

Once again the access ports to the tanks rose above ground. In addition, some city officials feared the soft sand and water mixture which lay at the bottom of the loosely guarded pit.

TO CORRECT the situation, the Tanner Oil Co. began pumping the gasoline back into tanker trucks

TESTING — Assistant Fire Chief John Rockhold finds no danger of gas explosion around the tanks.

Reds drop San Diego, 7-3

Morgan hurts; hurts Padres

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Joe Morgan says a pulled muscle continues to leave him in pain, but the Cincinnati Reds second baseman still managed to hurt the San Diego Padres.

Morgan, making only his second appearance in 11 games, drove in four runs with three hits in pacing the Reds to a 7-3 victory Monday night over the Padres at San Diego.

"My side feels much better, but I still feel the pain when I swing for just an instant," he said. "There's nothing broken, but I probably won't be at 100 per cent for the rest of the season."

Despite the pain, Morgan led a four-run Cincinnati rally with his 13th home run of the year, a three-run shot into the right field seats.

Morgan's blow offset a three-run first-inning homer by Padre first baseman Willie McCovey. Morgan counteracted McCovey's efforts again in the seventh with a spectacular diving grab of a McCovey line drive with the bases loaded and two men out.

Ignoring his pain, Morgan managed to straighten up in time to nail McCovey at first base and get the Reds safely out of the inning.

"The only time it really hurt was tonight was when I made the diving stop on McCovey's grounder," said Morgan, referring to his pulled side muscles. "I wanted to lay there for a minute until the pain stopped, but there wasn't time."

After Morgan's three-run homer, Tony Perez and Pete Rose each drove in another run to put the game out of San Diego's reach.

Despite missing 14 games this season, first with a back injury and later with the side problems, Morgan is the second-highest RBI man for Cincinnati, tied with Perez at 52. George Foster leads with 62.

The little second baseman hurt his side in batting practice June 17 prior to an exhibition game in Indianapolis against the Reds' AAA farm club.

"There's no telling how many home runs and RBI's I could have if I hadn't been out of the lineup so much," said Morgan. "But I know it couldn't be any less and I'm way ahead of last year's pace."

One man who probably won't question that is Padre manager John McNamara.

"Morgan beat us tonight with both the bat and the glove," he said. "He makes a big difference to that team when he's in the lineup."

Al Oliver, who is only the National League's leading hitter, is watching the votes just like Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan; but the only chance he has of going to the All-Star Game is as a favorite son of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I am a little disappointed that I'm not higher on the list," Oliver said after driving in four runs with two singles, a double and his 12th homer as the Pirates trounced the Chicago Cubs 9-2 Monday night.

That boosted his batting average to .352, but according to the latest All-Star voting announced Monday Oliver stands only 12th among NL outfields.

It's not as if Oliver suddenly arrived on the scene. He began the season with a .292 career average and 1,172 hits, more than any active player his age—he's 29—except Cincinnati's Johnny Bench, who had 74 more hits ... in 580 more at bats.

"For seven years, I've been playing as well as I can and have contributed a lot to this team," Oliver said. "But for some reason, I just don't seem to get the votes."

In other NL action, the Philadelphia Phillies whipped the Montreal Expos 6-2, the Cincinnati Reds downed the San Diego Padres 7-3, the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Atlanta Braves 5-2, the Houston Astros drubbed the San Francisco Giants 8-2 and the New York Mets edged the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4.

Phillies 6, Expos 2

Garry Maddox celebrated the birth of a son by driving in three runs and Mike Schmidt hit his 21st home run in support of Steve Carlton's six-hit pitching. Maddox was informed in the top of the eighth that his wife had given birth to the couple's second son.

Dodgers 5, Braves 2

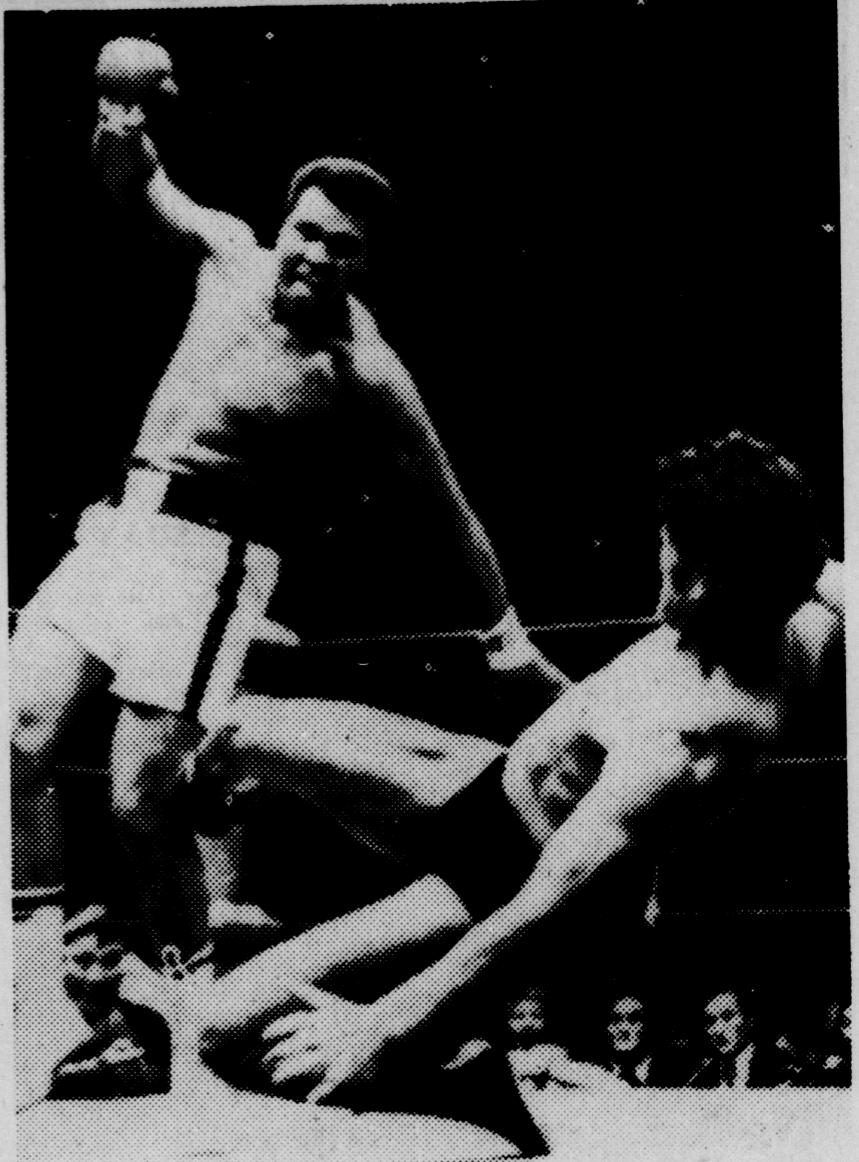

Lee Lacy broke a tie with a sacrifice fly in the seventh inning and Bill Buckner followed with a homer. Bill Russell's two-run single in the sixth inning broke up a scoreless duel between unbeaten Rick Hodges, 7-0, and Dick Ruthven.

Astros 8, Giants 2

Cliff Johnson knocked in three runs with a pair of doubles and Mike Cosgrove struck out 10 while pitching six strong innings. Johnson's two-run double gave the Astros a 2-0 lead in the second inning. Jose Cruz added a two-run single for Houston while Bob Watson had a two-run double.

Mets 5, Cardinals 4

A wild pitch by St. Louis relief ace Al Hrabosky with two out in the eighth inning allowed Dave Kingman to score from third base with the winning run. Earlier, Kingman increased his major league home run lead with his 26th of the season and John Milner added a two-run single, but Tom Seaver was unable to hold a 4-1 lead.

MIXING IT UP—Antonio Inoki kicks Muhammad Ali in an attempt to pull the heavyweight boxing champion to the mat in the eighth round of their 15-round World Martial Arts Championship fight in Tokyo. The match was a draw, but each fighter earned several million dollars for the fight which has drawn criticism from many circles. The World Boxing Council which named Ali boxer of the year retracted the award saying that the bout "showed disrespect for boxing."

Defending champs gone Wimbledon rings in new

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The Wimbledon tennis tournament, just into the second week of its 99th year, already has been assured something new this year — a new set of champions.

Some of last year's winners have tried to repeat and failed. Others didn't come back for another chance at what are considered tennis' most prestigious prizes.

When Vitas Gerulaitis of New York ousted Arthur Ashe in the fourth round, a new men's singles champion was assured. Billie Jean King announced after winning the women's singles for the sixth time last year that she would not be back to defend the title.

Ross Case and Geoff Masters of Australia, after losing the first two sets, came back and beat Gerulaitis and Sandy Mayer of Wayne, N.J., the men's doubles titleholders, in the quarter-finals Monday. The Australians won 3-6, 4-6, 9-8, 6-3, 6-1.

Kazuko Sawamatsu of Japan did not return this year to defend the women's doubles crown she won with Ann Kiyomura of San Mateo, Calif., last year. Miss Kiyomura is playing doubles this year with Mona Guerrant of Tempe, Ariz.

Margaret Court of Australia did not return to defend the mixed doubles title she won last year with Marty Riessen of Amelia Island, Fla.

Tired Judy Rankin wins Zaharias golf

CHAGRIN FALLS, Ohio (AP) — Slim blonde Judy Rankin looked beat as she acknowledged her victory to the crowd gathered around the 18th green after the final hole of the $100,000 Babe Zaharias Invitational Monday.

She trudged to the press room and listened wearily while playing partner JoAnne Carner explained how a gamble on her drive on the 18th hole at tortuous Tanglewood Country Club cost her a chance at victory.

That drive, a typical booming blast by the rugged Mrs. Carner, clipped a dead tree along the left side of the fairway and bounced out of bounds, the beginning of a killing double bogey six. Mrs. Rankin, playing as if pressure was for someone else to worry about, calmly played to a conventional par on the hole, finishing the tournament one under par at 287.

That was one stroke ahead of Jane Blalock and three ahead of Mrs. Carner, both of whom began the day tied for second, three strokes off Mrs. Rankin's pace.

The victory was good for $15,000 and a new single season earnings record of $96,830. That total, with still half the 1976 season to go, broke Mrs. Carner's 1974 mark of $87,094.

"I'm going to leave the tour for a couple of weeks after the next three or four tournaments," said the suddenly animated Mrs. Rankin. "But I want to get over $100,000 before I do, for sure. That's a record I want because nobody else can ever be the first to do it."

Junior Softball

The Industrials topped the V.F.W., 11-8, in Fayette County Youth Softball League play at Eymen Park.

The Industrials' hitting attack was led by Tyree who blasted a home run, while Upthegrove and Anders hit doubles. G. Bennett led the V.F.W. attack with three hits.

Winner—Upthegrove.
Loser—Hollar. 220 004 3—11

Church softball

Good Hope Methodist edged First Christian, 10-9, Monday in Church League softball action.

First Christian fell short of a come from behind win after scoring two runs in the bottom of the seventh. Eddie Rea was the winning pitcher and Carl Elberfeld took the loss.

Babe Ruth

Bloomingburg scored five runs in the first inning and went on to post a 12-6 win over Willis in Babe Ruth action Sunday.

Carl Riley capped Bloomingburg's five-run first frame with a bases-loaded double. Steve Souther and Bob Armentrout added to the hitting attack with triples and Joe Alltop doubled.

Souther got credit for the win and Bellis was tagged with the loss.

WILLIS 011 040 0—6 7 0
BLOOMINGBURG 500 430 x—12 13 1
Triples—Souther and Armentrout (B). Doubles—Riley and Alltop (B).
Winner—Souther.
Loser—Bellis.

Her fourth tournament victory of the year did not come easily, though.

Despite back-to-back 69's in the middle two rounds of the 72-hole tournament, Mrs. Rankin almost gave it away on the final day.

Playing in a light rain, the veteran

Ladies Professional Golf Association member "quick-hooked" her tee shot on No. 17 into a lateral water hazard. A bad lie caused her to hit a second shot off a cart path near the green, and that led to a double bogey six that suddenly put both Miss Blalock and Mrs. Carner just one stroke away.

Tidewater wins IL tilt

Pemberton had four of the Tides' 15 hits.

In other IL action Monday, Syracuse topped Toledo 7-5; Rochester dumped Pawtucket 4-2, and Richmond defeated Charleston 6-3.

Terry Whitfield and Dave Bergman had run-scoring singles in the ninth inning to make the difference for visiting Syracuse.

Opening lead - king of spades.

Good defense is probably the hardest part of bridge, and often the difficulty lies in poor partnership communication.

Consider this deal which illustrates exceptionally good defense. West leads the king of spades and on it East plays the queen! The queen is by no means a haphazard play; it has a particular meaning in a well-developed partnership. The queen play guarantees a singleton or the jack. The queen is never played on the king with a holding of Q-x in order to show a doubleton.

As a result of applying this universally recognized convention, West is emboldened to play a low spade at trick two, knowing that East will win the trick in one way or another. In the actual hand, West returns the deuce of spades, rather than his fourth best spade, thus sending a very special message to partner.

East wins with the ten and must decide whether to lead a diamond or a club. His return is crucial to the outcome. If he leads a diamond declarer makes the contract; if he leads a club declarer goes down one.

East solves the problem very neatly by returning a club. He chooses the club return because of West's deuce of spades play. He realizes that West probably has six spades, and that his deuce play is aimed more at directing which suit East should play next than on giving a count of the number of spades he has.

The offbeat deuce play, a suit-preference signal, directs East to return the lower suit (as between diamonds and clubs). Had West desired a diamond return at trick three, he would have led the nine of spades instead. The rule is easy to remember: High-high, low-low.

CLEVELAND (AP) - Four suspects face a variety of charges in connection with the weekend slaying of eight-year-old Karen Kollar.

Two of the four-Dallas Stuckey, 19, and Guy Frehmeyer, 18, have been charged with aggravated murder, and were scheduled to appear in Cleveland Municipal Court Tuesday.

Stuckey jumped a $500 bond two months ago in connection with an attack on another girl that took place in December. He was charged with assault but never appeared in court.

David Zytowiecki, 21, has been charged with obstructing justice. He was accused of helping to hide the child's killers and making plans to get them out of town.

His wife, Susan, 16, has been charged with delinquency by reason of aggravated murder and kidnapping.

Karen was battered to death with stones after she survived two attempts to kill her by throwing her from an abandoned brewery.

Officers said the incident stemmed from an attempt to scare the girl as punishment for having told Zytowiecki that his wife had skipped a probation appointment.

Mrs. Zytowiecki was on probation for stealing a license plate, police said.

A few weeks ago in this space we mentioned that the presidential race seems to be a diversion, while the real action is in the congressional races. We've had phone calls and people dropping in wanting further info on these people's voting records. Many have said that they had always wondered how to get the information on how the congressmen were voting on issues. Now they know. We nearly always have the current voting records for all congressmen in stock and the price is only 30 cents. For example, in the latest issue you will find that Wayne Hays (fifteenth district) has the same voting index as Harsha (our own sixth district), and both are bad. Here in Ohio it would seem that Latta (fifth district) and Miller (tenth district) are about the best we have. Throughout the nation, top men in the house are Steven Symms (Rep., first district of Idaho) and Larry McDonald (Democrat, seventh district of Georgia). Dr. McDonald was a well known surgeon in Atlanta before going to Washington. Also among the good guys is James Collins from Texas, Sam Steiger, Arizona; George Hansen, Idaho; and Phil Crane from Illinois.

To get more information out to the people on the voting records of house members, a committee has been formed — and you know how badly we need another committee — with the idea in mind to "lower taxes through less government." This new committee, call TRIM (Tax Reform IMMEDIATELY), is a nationwide movement with local units working in every state. Their objective is to let people know what's going on in Washington and why taxes are going up and the value of the dollar is going down. You may pick up a copy of the committee's bulletin free by dropping in our shop. In the TRIM Bulletin you will find Mr. Harsha's voting record on the issues that affect our taxes. You will find the TRIM Bulletin available in many business places, doctor's offices, barber shops, etc.

Truck slams into two turning autos

Four injured in three-vehicle crash

For the third time in less than three days, a serious accident in Fayette County plagued area law enforcement officers and members of the Washington C.H. Fire Department.

Though four Fayette County residents were injured in a Monday afternoon three-vehicle collision on the CCC Highway-E, luckily all required only treatment at Fayette County Memorial Hospital before they were released.

Five people were killed in two separate accidents over the weekend which took place approximately 1,000 feet from each other on Ohio 41-N.

According to Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson, the 4 p.m.

Monday accident was the result of truck driver failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

Sheriff Thompson stated that two cars northbound on CCC Highway-E were in the process of turning left onto Ohio 238, when both were struck from behind by a large truck carrying sacks of feed.

Cecil J. Harris, 68, of Bloomingburg, was in the process of turning left onto Ohio 238. In back of him was a car driven by Patricia E. McConaha, 21, of Bloomingburg, also northbound, and waiting to turn left.

The feed truck, driven by Richard R. Black, 24, of Pataskala, was approaching from behind, and was unable to stop in time for the two cars ahead, Sheriff Thompson said. Black reportedly attempted to swerve to the left around the cars, but was unsuccessful.

His truck struck Harris' car, sending it off the road in a northwest direction, and over an embankment. The McConaha car was struck on its left side by the truck, and it traveled 37 feet off towards the right of the roadway.

The feed truck flipped over on its side after impact with the two cars, and then skidded 84 feet along the left side of the road, and stopped in front of a guardrail.

As the truck overturned, it sent numerous bags of feed northwards, along the southbound lane of the highway. Black was able to get out of the truck, and was uninjured.

Harris and a passenger, Katherine E. May, 20, of 1025 Lakeview Ave., were both taken to Fayette County Memorial Hospital where they were treated and released. Harris had suffered fractured ribs, and various lacerations.

Ms. McConaha and her daughter, Rheta, were also taken to Fayette County Memorial and treated for lacerations and released.

As they had in the recent weekend accidents, Washington C.H. firemen were present to prevent spilled gas from igniting. The overturned truck was hosed with water.

On the scene with Sheriff Thompson were, Chief Deputy Robert McArthur, and Deputy David Souther, the investigating officer. Washington C.H. Police Specialist Larry Walker rendered his assistance in the direction of traffic. Ohio Highway Patrol officer Loren Butcher also assisted with traffic maintenance.

The three vehicles were severely damaged, and Black was charged with failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

THREE-VEHICLE COLLISION — As a result of a three-vehicle collision Monday at the intersection of Ohio 238 and CCC Highway-E, this feed truck overturned, spilling sacks for some distance along the southbound lane of the highway. Four Fayette County residents were injured, though none seriously.

Judge reduces bonds

Three check suspects bound to grand jury

During a preliminary hearing in Washington C.H. Municipal Court, three Bloomingburg residents each charged with seven counts of check forgery had their bonds reduced, and were bound over to the Fayette County grand jury.

Ralph W. Thomas, 20, Jean A. Thomas, 18, and David M. Whaley, 19, all of Bloomingburg, had bonds reduced by Municipal Court Judge Robert L. Simpson from $7,500 to $2,500 apiece. After Washington C.H. Police Specialist Larry Walker gave testimony on the stand, and a motion by the Thomas' attorney Fred J. Scurry, of London, the trio was bound over to the Fayette County grand jury.

All three Bloomingburg residents have been charged, along with a 15-year-old Washington C.H. girl, with having passed seven stolen checks totalling approximately $550 and forged with the signature of John E. Merritt, a Washington C.H. resident. The checks were cashed at various area businesses in early June.

Both Ralph and Jean Thomas are being represented by Scurry. David Whaley is being represented by Robert Brubaker, a Washington C.H. attorney.

All three defendants have been released on bond.

Also bound over to the Fayette County grand jury after a preliminary hearing on Friday was Pearl Bott, 39, of Williamsport. She is alleged to have stolen a color television set from Buckeye Mart on June 20.

Mrs. Bott is currently free on bond.

During Monday's session of Washington C.H. Municipal Court, a Greenfield man was found guilty of trespassing on the property of a Fayette County man.

Joseph D. Palmer, 38, of Greenfield, was fined $30 by Judge Simpson for having trespassed on the property of Charles D. Creamer, 8494 Creamer Road, on May 26.

Lemuel Jester, 46, of 118½ E. Market St., was fined $10 with all the amount suspended for disorderly conduct.

Daniel E. Ryan, 21, of Bloomingburg, was fined $25 with $15 suspended for threatening to do harm to another person.

Donald L. Massie, Mount Sterling, forfeited a $34 bond for not appearing in court to answer charges of having thrown a beer can into Deer Creek on June 20. The warrant had been filed by Fayette County game protector Jerry Cremeans.

Both Ralph and Jean Thomas are being represented by Scurry. David Whaley is being represented by Robert Brubaker, a Washington C.H. attorney.

All three defendants have been released on bond.

Also bound over to the Fayette County grand jury after a preliminary hearing on Friday was Pearl Bott, 39, of Williamsport. She is alleged to have
